MURDER TRIAL JURY WILL BE SEATED TODAY

Attorneys in Kenton Slaying Have Only Four Challenges Left.

11 TENTATIVELY SEATED James Willis, 21, Charged with Killing, Quiet in Courtroom.

KENTON, Nov. 25.—The tedious task of completing a jury to hear the first degree murder case of the State of Ohio against James Willis, 21-year-old Kenton youth, was nearing an end today in the Hardin County common pleas court with the prospect that a panel would be completed this afternoon.

Willis was indicted on the murder charge in the fatal shooting of George LeRoy Ansley, 49, Kenton shop foreman, early in the morning of Oct. 26 at the Ansley home.

At noon today, 11 jurors had been tentatively seated subject to the four remaining peremptory challenges of both the state and defense. The state's attorneys had used three of their peremptory challenges and the defense five. Each is allowed six.

Threatens Contempt
The defense exercised a peremptory challenge yesterday on Elizabeth Buren, Dudley township farm woman. Six other women were examined from the venire but were all dismissed principally because of disbeliefs in capital punishment.

The only incident to alter the routine of the first days proceeding came immediately upon adjournment for the night when a newspaper reporter and photographer from a metropolitan daily sought to get Willis' picture in the courtroom. Roy Warren, chief of the defense counsel objected, and the court threatened contempt proceedings should a picture be taken within the courtroom. The newspaper men withdrew but were waiting to "snap" Willis as he emerged from the building.

Willis Pale, Quiet
Pale and expressionless, garbed in a freshly pressed blue serge suit, Willis sat throughout the proceedings yesterday and today without hardly changing his posture. He kept his hands folded on his lap, and when his eyes were not closed he fixed his gaze on the counsel's table ahead of him. Directly behind him sat his parents.

As he entered and left the courtroom flanked by deputy sheriffs there was a slight limping, the result of a leg wound received at the time of the fatal shooting.

Twice during the process of selecting a jury defense attorneys moved that the entire panel be dismissed when an error developed in the name of one of the venire.
They were overruled.

During the opening day approximately 40 veniremen had been examined out of a special list of approximately 60 summoned last week. Last night an additional venue of 17 was directed by the court.

Lt. Governor Brown Asserts Count Essential Due to Discrepancies.

By International News Service
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Declaring that certified copies of the official election returns from 21 counties reveal discrepancies in some cases as high as 100 votes, Lieutenant Governor John T.
Brown, the outcome of whose race for reelection is still uncertain, today requested a complete re-check of the poll books for all counties in the state.

The request was addressed to Clarence J. Brown, secretary of state. It declared that since the margin between the votes cast for his reelection and those cast for William G. Pickrel, of Dayton, his opponent, "is running around one hundred and twenty votes," it would appear that a recheck of the poll books of the rest of the counties "is absolutely essential."

A sharp west wind that drove snow before it last night sent the mercury to 24 degrees above zero and in many other sections of the state as the record-breaking warm November weather finally was terminated.

Snow flurries began yesterday afternoon and were continuing today. The forecast for tonight and of the cold snap with prospects that it will last over Thanksgiving.

Further snow was predicted for Wednesday, with cloudy weather prevailing.

Snowfall General
Temperatures here yesterday ranged from 49 to 24 as compared to a high of 44 a year ago today and a low of 23.

The snowfall was general, a thin white blanket covering the entire state. In some localities the snow was three inches deep, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Not only did the first icy breath of winter hit the state, but it swept over the half the world. The American storm rode out of the then swept over the ocean toward

ROBBERS RULE TOWN AS THEY BLAST BANK

Threatening Guns Keep Gratis, O., Citizens in Homes While Cash Is Seized.

By The Associated Press HAMILTON, O., Nov. 25.—The Gratis State bank at Gratis, 20 miles north of here, was robbed of $5,000 today by six men who used six charges of dynamite to break open a safe.

Three robbers were reported to have stayed outside the bank while three confederates entered the institution and blew the safe.

After the first two discharges of dynamite numerous residents living near the bank stuck their heads out windows to learn what had happened and were told by robbers outside the bank to get back into their houses.

The robbers then proceeded with the safe blowing operations and were reported to have discharged four more blasts of dynamite. They then escaped in a large blue automobile.

Only One Officer
Gratis has only one police official—Marshal Herbert Eby. The town was isolated for several hours.
The robbers cut all telephone and telegram wires leading into the town.

Cincinnati police were asked to be on the lookout for the robbers, who were reported armed with shotguns.

Mrs. Esther Guntle, night telephone operator at the Gratis exchange on the second floor of the two-story frame bank building, said she and her husband, William Guntle, were aroused by the first explode.

Frazier, 42, of Hamilton, was killed to death in the wreckage of his automobile after it struck a telephone pole a mile west of Alton day. Deputy sheriffs said Frazier apparently fell asleep while driving and the machine left the highway, struck the pole and caught fire. John B. Frazier, of Hamilton, a brother of the victim, told the officers Frazier was enroute to

BLAZE DISCOVERED AT 4:54 A.M. TODAY TWO STORIES BURN

F. W. Woolworth Co. Store Suffers $36,000 Loss from Smoke and Water, as Top Floors of McNeal-Wolford Block Burn.

MARION BUSINESS COLLEGE DESTROYED

Heavy Wind and Cold Hinders Firemen in Battle with Blaze Which, for Time, Threatens Structures to East; Is Second Fire on Location.

One of the most damaging fires in the history of the city gutted the three-story McNeal-Wolford business building half a block from the public square early this morning.

Stock and equipment of the Woolworth store, Marion Business College and 10 office suites were destroyed and the building was badly damaged. The total damage from fire, water and smoke is expected to exceed $75,000.

Starting in the top of the building the fire consumed the entire third floor which houses the Business college and destroyed all office suites on the second floor. Stock and fixtures of the F. W. Woolworth Co. were declared a 90 per cent loss from smoke and water damage.

All but a small per cent of the loss is covered by insurance.

Origin a Mystery

Origin of the fire is a mystery.
Blazes were first seen shooting from the roof at 4:54 a. m. today by Patrolman Wayland, who turned in the alarm.

Firemen brought the blaze under control two hours later, and at noon today were extinguishing the last embers.

For a time, the fire, fanned by a stiff wind from the west, threatened the block to the east. Half a dozen flames broke out in the building housing the Beaver & Hudson cigar store. By playing a heavy stream of water on the adjoining building for two hours, firemen confined the fire to the McNeal-Wolford building.

Not since the $300,000 Buick garage fire Feb. 10, 1925, has such a damaging fire struck this city. It too was of undetermined origin.

Twenty-two years ago, fire destroyed a building then occupied by the Uhler-Phillips Co., on the site of the McNeal-Wolford block.
Damage in that fire was estimated at $150,000.

The brick building did not cave in under the intense heat, although steel girders in the third floor were melted into scrap iron. Only two small sections of the firewall crumbled under the heat and the heavy streams of water.

Building Loss $25,000 Damage to the building was fixed at $25,000 by Fire Chief T. J.
McFarland. The roof and third floor were consumed. The second floor was a mass of wreckage when the fire was extinguished. The downstairs room was soaked with water and blackened with smoke.
Water stood in the basement at a depth of three feet.

The heaviest loss was sustained by the F. W. Woolworth Co., located on the first floor. Its entire stock and fixtures, including a large Christmas stock, was reduced to a 90 per cent loss. Damage to the stock and fixtures alone was estimated at $36,000.

The store was to have been remodeled and improved next March, according to F. M. Bagg of 611 Girard avenue, manager of the store for the last 18 years.

All equipment and records of the Marion Business College went up in smoke while the fire raged uncontrolled. Damage to the college, located entirely on the third floor, is estimated at $4,000 by J. T. Burgess of 286 Bellefontaine avenue, secretary and manager.

without classrooms today. The college will be reestablished in temporary quarters immediately and all students will be enabled to complete their educational course, Mr. Burgess said.

The college had been located in the building 20 years.

Twenty-two typewriters, two valuable bookkeeping and calculating machines, a microscope, two dictaphones, 50 cash desks, 100 chairs, 25 typewriter desks, 50 cabinets, books, supplies, and office equipment were completely destroyed.

College Destroyed
Lost in the 10 miles of uptown office located in the building was gradually being revealed today as firemen picked their way through the wreckage of the second floor.

Many thousands dollars in valuable paper and accounts were contained in safes and filing cabinets of the office, an unofficial checking revealed.

Office furniture and inflammable equipment on the second floor was entirely destroyed.

Among the tenants on the second floor were: Granger Realty Co., Merchants Adjustment Co., Witham, Clark Co. Carl Hans real estate office. Hoover Co. service branch.

Veteran On Job at Fire

ONCE a fireman, always a fireman. Edward H. Fetter, recently retired after 30 years with the Marion fire department, simply couldn't stay away this morning.

Although in his civilian clothes, Fetter was inside the fire line, patting the boys on the back and speaking words of encouragement.

And still more, each fireman was handed a big cigar to help another the astringent taste of smoke.

A Kiwanis club breakfast at the Marion club this morning enabled that civic organization to do an extra good turn. Club members shared panache, sausage and coffee with cold and hungry firemen.

The breakfast began at 7:30
a. m., shortly after the firemen had brought the fire under control. The men, their coats stiff with ice, were taken to the club for rest, warmth and food.

INDICTED IN DEATH OF PASTOR'S WIDOW

First Degree Charge Confronts Bellefontaine Man in Grand Jury Report.

By United Press
BELLEFONTAINE, O., Nov. 25.— An indictment charging first degree murder has been returned by the Logan county grand jury against Arthur Hamilton, 41, local junk dealer, in connection with the death of Mrs. Catherine Bell, 67, widow of a Shelby county minister, who was slain Nov. 5.

petrating an attack. Her body was found alone a lonely road several hours after she disappeared. The spot where the body was found was several miles from the Bell home.
Though he pleaded not guilty when recently arraigned, Hamilton admitted a confession admitting he killed Mrs. Bell. Later he repudiated this confession and declared he was forced by another man, to kidnap and slay the woman.

Hamilton is married and the father of two children.

Back in Prison After 12 Years of Freedom

By International News service AUSTIN, TEX.—After enjoying freedom for 12 years, James Doolan, convicted perjurer, is back in prison. He landed there because he attempted to secure the freedom of a brother, also imprisoned.
Doolan was convicted in 1917 and sentenced to serve five years in the state prison. After nine months he escaped, tried to join the army but was refused, and worked in a munitions factory. At that time he was 39 years old.
Officers recognized Doolan when he went to Governor Dan Moody to ask for clemency for his imprisoned brother. Now James is petitioning for clemency for himself.

By International News Service
DELAWARE, O., Nov. 25—Two damages suits asking a total of $35-000 were filed in Delaware county common pleas court here today against Park Weaver, of Findlay, an employee of the state welfare department, who is now at liberty under a bond on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Hays Lehman, separated Upper Sandusky farmer.

The suits were filed by Mrs.
Ethel Lehman, widow of the dead man, who asks $20,000 and O. D.

near here when Weaver allegedly forced the Lehman machine off the road and it was wrecked.
Weaver's case will be considered when the county grand jury convenes in two weeks. Authorities have indicated that the charge against Weaver will not be pressed.

SCARF USEFUL GIFT

Wide Range of Selection Style Now On Display in Marion Stores

As well as useful every Christmas season, is one of the most useful gifts in the Marion Stores. A large selection of scarves in colorings both in colorings and in patterns. They range from the strictly tailored about the effects.
Everything else the family at have several scarves

to be worn with the various types of costumes.
The long chiffon numbers featuring the pastel shades.
They are to be worn with fur coats and with the fluffy evening costumes or at affairs that are of a formal nature. They are usually associated with a high looking coat of fur.

THE brightly colored silk scarves made double have sprung into prominence this season and are for general all round wear. They are suitable for any type of gown or coat and can be worn at any time of the day or evening. They are hand-tailored and are either striped or in block effects. The many clever color combinations makes them most alluring.

They are all finished with a half inch natural fringe. They measure eight inches in width and may be worn loosely around the neck or in a single loop effect.

The prices of these utility scarves are less than half what they sold for several months ago. Scarves have taken a quarter reduction in prices and appear to be of better texture.
For those who follow the sports fashion an Arret scarf is the latest word. It is smart to the latest detail. The texture is of a finely colored wool fabric lined with a wool coloring in plain material. The scarf is narrow with a tailored fish tail end. It is made to fit snugly about the neck with a single loop.

This style can be worn loosely around the neck while indoors but should be kept closely around the neck while being worn with the sport or tailored coat. This same style of scarf may be purchased in jotted wools to match the materials of the new fall or winter dresses.

The elderly matron who incorporates warmth along with beauty in her selection of scarves, should have one of the soft and warm hand loom made scarves. They are fashioned from a light weight wool in an attractive combination of shades.

These are finished with a small fringe. They will be a popular suggestion for the holiday shopper who is faced with the problem of buying a gift for the older person.

THE masculine members of the family may place a scarf on their Christmas lists.
The shops catering to men's wear are ready to offer a large variety of both styles and colors. There are the old fashioned muffler type which is again in mode—the large folded silk scarf and the plain whites and black which are indispensable for evening wear.

Heavy knitted wool scarves are being shown for general utility. There are plaids, stripes and clock designs in silks and many of them are finely colored.
Prices in men's neckwear have followed the same lines as the women's. They are cheaper, by far, than at the holiday season of last year.

The artistically wrapped package always makes the gift more alluring. Merchants here have secured many kinds of attractive Yuletide boxes.
A scarf purchased for a holiday gift will be folded in one of these attractive boxes and tied with a bit of the red and green holiday ribbon.

So in making your Christmas selections why not include one of more of the colorful neckpieces?

No Secret Here

A simple explanation of great success

A well known author is writing a story about A&P. "What," he has asked repeatedly, "is the secret of A&P's success? Why is it the largest grocer in the world?"

At first he was disappointed and puzzled. For he found no secret, no key to success. He had expected to solve a mystery, to discover a magic formula. He found, simply, an organization of wide-awake men hard at work.

After a few weeks' study, he has forgotten all about secrets of success, and he is no longer puzzled.
But he is amazed at how much can be accomplished when great numbers of men work together with a common purpose. His will not be a new story.
Real success comes only to those who believe in what they're doing—and do it.

All A&P men believe that good food should be sold at low prices—and you'd be surprised to know how simple it is when they all work together.

Council Makes Transfers To Pay Bills for Year

Largest Shift Is from General Fund to Sewage Treatment Works; Sale of Bonds for Improvements Is Authorized; Main Street Assessments Reduced.

Further transfers and appropriations to enable city departments to pay bills for the remainder of the year were made by city council last night.

Funds aggregating $920 were transferred, and amounts appropriated totaled $1,642.

The largest single transfer was that of $675 from the general fund to the sewage treatment works. Other transfers included $150 from the general fund to the incidental fund of the police department; $20 from the hospital fund to the incidental fund of the police department; $50 from the general fund to the fund for meals of prisoners in the police department; $20 from the hospital fund to the incidental fund of the police department.

Shifts Hospital Fund. Appropriations included one of $115 for the sewage treatment plant. A number of small amounts totaling $1,587 were appropriated to various funds within the hospital.

Two weeks ago council transferred $15,000 from well supplied funds to those in departments which were "broke."

Sale of two issues of bonds Dec. 1 was authorized by an ordinance unanimously adopted. The ordinance calls for the sale of bond issues to take up notes aggregating $1,180 for the improvement of Brightwood and Durfee drives. The amount is the city's share of the improvements.

New reduced assessments for the recent improvement of Main street were adopted by council. The assessments follow: from George street to the first alley south of Church street, $4.73; from the first alley south of Church street to Pleasant street, $7.73; from Pleasant street to Columbia street, $4.79. The amounts are the assessments collectable against each front foot of property along the street.

Permission to connect the St. Mary's school building and the St. Mary's Catholic church with steam pipes in order to heat the two buildings with one heating unit was granted the St. Mary's congregation by council.

To Meet Friday. Council adjourned to Friday night when a session will be held to authorize the sale of bond issues to take up outstanding note issues for city equipment and improvements.

Bond issues to take up notes for the entire bond-issue program of the city for 1930 will be authorized with the exception of seven street improvements, City Solicitor Carter Patton told council.

Prompt sale of the bonds will enable officials to place assessments for a majority of the improvements and purchases on the tax duplicate this year.

Council Orders Fire Hydrant Near Plant

How to give the Marion Steel Body Co. fire protection without adding to the number of fire hydrants in the city was a problem quickly solved by council last night. Council authorized the Marion Water Co. to install a hydrant near the plant, specifying that this hydrant should be taken off Kenton avenue near the city limits, where it is apparently not needed.

Application for the additional hydrant was filed with council two weeks ago by representatives of the factory.

INTEREST GROWS IN IRISH-ARMY GAME

St. Mary's School Cagers Face Ambitious 16 Game Schedule for 1930-31

INTENSE RIVALRY TO BE RENEWED AGAIN IN ANNUAL BATTLE

Expect Nearly 120,000 To Witness Cadet Efforts To Stop Ramblers.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—One of the oldest and most interesting inter-sectional gridiron rivalries—Notre Dame and Army—will be renewed on Soldier field Saturday.

At the rate tickets are going, there are anticipations of a crowd of between 110,000 and 120,000 which would rank second only to the record attendance of 123,000 established last season when the Irish defeated Southern California, 13 to 12, in the same stadium.

Regardless of the Army's fine record in the east, marred only by a draw with Yale, Notre Dame will be a good sized favorite over the Cadets. Today's quotation was 5 to 1 on the Irish with no points offered.

The rivalry has endured, with only one interruption for 18 years, and has been regarded by Notre Dame as the high spot of its schedule.

When the Army and Navy had their falling out, the contest assured a similar importance at West Point, and regardless of the caliber of the teams, the attraction always is a hot one.

With Northwestern out of the way, Coach Rockne has ordered a two-day rest for his regulars, no serious work being scheduled until tomorrow.

Rockne does not plan to work his squad hard this week, but will save as much as possible for Notre Dame's final game of that wicked schedule, against Southern California a week hence.

The Oregon State squad, which will meet West Virginia in the Shrine's benefit for Chicago's crippled children, Thanksgiving day, was due today, accompanied by a 60-piece band, and a home cheering section. The Mountaineers will reach Chicago tomorrow in time to work out in the afternoon.

The Oregon State-West Virginia game is listed as the main attraction of the program in Soldier field, but the contest between Notre Dame stars of yesterday, and former Northwestern aces, has aroused much interest.

The Bolivian government has granted a monopoly in the Swedish match trust that prevents any other interests manufacturing matches or lighters within the country for 20 years.

SPORTS

FRIDAY night will witness the inauguration in Marion of the local basketball season. St. Mary's High school cagers will tackle the Sidney Holy Angels in The Star auditorium at 8:30 p. m. A preliminary game between two combinations of St. Mary's alumni will start an hour earlier.

St. Mary's this season is backing a schedule that is the toughest ever arranged for the local Catholic school. Sixteen games are on the schedule. On several week-ends the team will be called on to play games on both Friday and Saturday nights. Considering the comparative size of the schools, the Irish have a tougher schedule than Harding High. The team this year does not look capable of compiling as good a record as the team of the 1929-30 season. The schedule is tougher and all of the regulars of last year are gone.

The Shovel-Y-Indus basketball club, formerly the Y-Indus club, will get a slight jump on other cage outfits of the city when it travels out of town on Thanksgiving night to engage the Kenton High school five on the Kenton floor. The local Y club is playing this year under the supervision of the Marion Steam Shovel Athletic association.

The playing personnel of the Ohio Y. M. C. A. champions will probably be nearly the same as last season. Bud Cram will be at one guard with Oetzerholt at the other. Walter Lockwood is expected to jump center again with Vic Gillis and Bill Housh taking care of the forward duties.

Bill Keller, a newcomer to the club may add a lot of strength to the team although he has not clinched a place on the team yet. Bill Fetter, Kenneth Crawford and Duane church will again form the utility squad.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Jumping Joe Savoldi, late fullback of Notre Dame, will be a halfback for the Chicago Bears when he makes his professional debut. Thursday against the Chicago Cardinals. Coach Ralph Jones moved the Italian to half as a running mate for Red Grange, leaving Bronko Nagurski at fullback.

WALDO CAGERS WIN FROM GREEN CAMP

Prospect Defeats Claridon; Benefit Basketball Games Net $78.70.

WALDO CAGERS 241
THREE hundred and fifty persons paid $78.70 last night to watch Prospect and Waldo High schools defeat cage teams of Green Camp and Claridon in a benefit game for Bill Detweiler of Prospect whose leg was broken on Oct. 24 in a soccer game between Waldo and Prospect. The games were played in Prospect. Prospect defeated Claridon 25-13 and Waldo landed Green Camp the short end of a 25-14 score.

Waldo had little trouble in winning from Green Camp, using second stringers in part of the game. Griffin, a center, was high scorer for the Waldo five.

Keller, left forward for Prospect, garnered seven points for his team but was closely pressed for scoring honors by his teammates, McLeod and McNeal, both of whom connected for six points each.

Willaman Speaks

Ohio State Coach Promises Better 1931 Team; Lauds Fesler.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 25.—Ohio State alumni have Coach Sam Willaman's promise of an improved 1931 football machine despite the end of the career of the great Wesley Fesler.

"I told you last year that we would have a better team this season, even though we might not win any more games," Willaman said at a banquet of Cleveland alumni last night. "I make that same promise again."

Willaman labelled Fesler as the greatest athlete in the school's history, barring not even Chic Harley, and maintained that Fesler earned all-American rating in the backfield as well as at end.

Injured Hand To Keep McLarnin Out 4 Months

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—An injured right hand probably will force Jimmy McLarnin out of action for the next four months. Jimmy plans to return to Vancouver and undergo treatment by a Canadian bone specialist.

McLarnin's hand was injured in the second round of his recent fight with Billy Petrolle and at the end of the fight was swollen to twice its normal size.

Selfishness is a quality everybody has—except you.

Cincinnati Reds To Have Young Infield

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 25.—For the first time in a number of years, the 1931 Cincinnati Red infield is to be made up of youngsters, unlike recent inner defense aggregations of the Rhinelanders.

Acquisition of Minor Heath, twenty-six year old slugging first baseman of the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast league, announced yesterday, gives Manager Dan Howley a quartet that has not seen many years on the main line.

Howley's plan calls for Heath on first, Tony Cucinello on second, "Jersey Joe" Stripp on third and Leo Durocher on short. Clyde Sukeforth, young catcher, probably will do most of the receiving. Howley said.

Council Won't Talk

By The Associated Press
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 25.—The University of Wisconsin athletic council, after its regular meeting here last night, said there "was nothing for publication" regarding Glen Thistlethwaite, Badger football coach. Some members of the council previously had said they would ask Thistlethwaite's removal because of the poor football showing this season.

CATHOLIC TEAM HAS FIVE VETERANS BACK FOR PLAY THIS YEAR

New Athletic Board in Control of Sports of Parochial Institution.

WITH a squad largely depleted through the graduation process the St. Mary's basketball team is facing one of the most ambitious schedules arranged for a local Irish team. The parochial netters will play 16 games starting Friday, Nov. 28, and concluding on Feb. 27. The opening encounter this Friday will be played on The Star auditorium court with the Holy Angels of Sidney furnishing the opposition.

The St. Mary's basketball team is playing this year under a new athletic arrangement. Rev. Father M. B. Kleige is head coach with J. J. Connelly, Irish as assistant. St. Mary's recently named a

RED AGREES PRO GAME IS TOUGH

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Chris Cagle agrees that football is a tough racket as the professionals play it.

"There's no fooling about this professional football," the famous redhead said. "And when they tackle they mean it."

Cagle made his pro debut with the New York Giants on Sunday and was hurt early in the first period when he collided with Tom Nash of the Green Bay Packers.

Cagle suffered a deep gash in his head and Nash a broken nose. Nash was through for the day but Cagle returned to the lineup late in the game.

Five Lettermen Back

Five lettermen of the 1929-30 squad are back in the fold for play this year. None of them were regulars last season but all of them saw considerable service. Jack Fye, Jack Bantz, Bob Bantz, Art O'Keefe and Francis Robbins are lettermen of last year who are on the squad this season.

The coach is grooming Carl Shehee for the pivot post this year. Shehee has not been much seen on the court before but shows promise of developing into a first class center.

Jack Bantz and Billy Drake at forwards, Shehee at center and Jack Fye and Art O'Keefe at guards look like the best combination working out now for the Irish. It is possible this lineup will take the floor Friday against Sidney but they will be replaced by other aspirants before the game is over.

Doctor Eats Raw Foods For His Health's Sake

By International News Service. NEW YORK—Although Dr. Elmer Lee lives in an expensive and fashionable apartment overlooking Central Park his floors are bare of rugs and only actual necessities equip his rooms.

"I haven't tasted meat in 40 years," the doctor says proudly. "I eat nature's foods, raw vegetables, nuts, fresh fruits and water, and I eat four five and sometimes six times a day just as my body calls for nourishment. I seldom get eight hours of sleep; I don't need it. I like to walk in Central Park and I do my own cooking and housework for it is both useful and conducive to mental serenity."

"True health," he claims, depends upon the foods provided for us by nature, and this, together with fresh air, pleasant and useful work, sleep and mental contentment will keep any man well."

Dr. Lee is over 80, and hopes to reach 100 years.

A new radiator for heating rooms is so compact that it extends only a few inches from a wall and is designed to be installed close to a floor, where it will be most efficient.

SHOWS SLIDES AT SCOUT TROOP MEET

Nature Study Is Theme of Talk Before Boys in Legion Dugout.

Troop 5 of the American Legion and 3 of Epworth M. E. church led Marion Boy Scouts in activities last week.

Lester R. Davis of the International Harvester Co. was a guest of Troop five when the group met in the Legion dugout with Scoutmaster F. G. Browne in charge. Davis spoke to boys on nature study, using colored slides to illustrate his lecture. Following the lecture by Davis E. N. Hale of the Y. M. C. A. and Wilbur Symes told the assembly of a plan to use the Scouts to collect used clothing for distribution among the needy of Marion. A section of the city will be assigned to each troop in the city.

Members of several other troops in the city were guests of Troop five at the meeting.

Outlines Plans

Scoutmaster V. C. Kissell outlined plans for the future of Troop 3 and also emphasized troop interest to the boys. W. E. Orcutt, principal of Central Junior High school, told the boys of the proposed work of the troop committee.

The troop went through first aid demonstrations and the members passed various scouting tests.

The troop plans to inaugurate a new system of meetings. Two meetings will be held each month. One will be work night and the other fun night. Only scouts who are present for work night will be eligible for fun night meetings. The fun night meetings will be held at the Boy Scout camp when weather conditions permit.

Old Stuff Here

A RECENT item going the rounds of newspapers tells of a revolving tray having been invented in Germany as an auxiliary to waiters in hotels and boarding houses. The idea presumably is to place a full and varied supply of edibles on the tray and permit the diners to make their own selections by a simple twirl of machinery.

Now George W. Robertson, veteran Marion masonry craftsman, comes to us with the information that this news is really ancient history. In making the revelation he does not seek to cast reflections on the inventive skill of the Germans, for he agrees that they are up at the top of the list.

But Mr. Robertson distinctly remembers that down in Arkansas nearly 40 years ago he sat at a table where one of these revolving contraptions was in use. The Marion man at that time was a traveling salesman—"drummers" they were called then.

The whirling device as it stood at the center of the hotel table at which a group of guests were well-equipped with formidable appetites was seated, was a three or four-story arrangement with all of the different sections stocked to the limit with food. Provisions were low priced in those days and Arkansas hostilities were lavish in their outlay.

Mr. Robertson says that if his memory serves him right there were six different kinds of meat on the mechanical waiter in addition to numerous side dishes and delicacies.

The way that revolving tray kept moving would have put a whirling dervish to shame, Mr. Robertson relates. At times it reached the point where it looked as though the proprietor would have to be called to oil up the bearings to prevent a blow-out or hot box.

As an added and entertaining feature of the feast, the guests took to playing wagers on turns of the tray, betting whether the tomatoes, prunes or some other viand would stop at a certain point.

Yes, it does seem that Arkansas beat Germany by almost 40 years.

Mail Carriers Busy

WHILE most of the citizenry is trying to peer into the future in an effort to see what fate holds by way of fowl for the Thanksgiving feast folks at the Ohio hatchery, northwest of the city, have taken a jump of months and are now putting into Uncle Sam's mail alluring booklets with pictures and suggestions of the spring styles in eggs and poultry. And better yet, before the carcasses of the Christmas bird is cleaned to the satisfaction of the pilot of the culinary department of the home, the hatchery will have begun its shipments of baby chicks. About eight thousand booklets in a week is a good record for the hatchery by way of advertising. And by way of keeping the U. S. mailmen on the job the Marion Steam Shovel company's attractive and interesting little magazine "The Groundhog" has something like 401,000 readers for one issue.

FINDS SIX VOTES

Recheck Here Adds to Pickrel's Total in State.

William G. Pickrel of Dayton, candidate for lieutenant governor at the recent election, picked up six votes in Marion county after a recheck was made by C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections, he said today.

Ritzler discovered an error of six votes in precinct C of the first ward, where Pickrel had 100 votes instead of 106. The votes gave Pickrel 8,070 in the county instead of the 8,064 figure which was at first released as official.

The Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor apparently was elected on Nov. 4, but numerous errors were found throughout the state that cut his lead to several hundred. The recheck here is part of the statewide recheck asked by Clarence J. Brown, secretary of state.

Ritzler yesterday sent the corrected figures to Brown.

DEMOCRATIC CEREMONY

Cox of Ohio, and Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, leaving St. Bartholomew's Church Chapel, New York City, with his bride, the former Miss Helen Rumsey, daughter of Lee M. Y. M. C. A. Plans To Add Educational Program Edgar Barnhart May Revive Special Work; Community Fund Agency Continues Active Program with School Boys; State Leader Is Speaker Here.

The Y. M. C. A., an active agency of the Marion Community Fund, is now considering the possibility of adding educational work to its program. Educational classes were formerly held at the Y with considerable success, and a special educational committee headed by Edgar Barnhart is now considering reviving the program.

The classes may include subjects such as shop mathematics, blue print reading, and better English.

Friday Dr. Robert E. Speer of New York City spoke to 145 men at a luncheon meeting in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. This meeting was made possible by the Laymen's missionary movement in cooperation with the County Ministerial association. He spoke in interest of missions and vividly portrayed the striking results of missionary effort in the Orient.

A group of boys from Oak street school met at the Y. M. C. A. Monday to organize a Gra-Y club in that school. This is the fourth Gra-Y club to be organized in the past two weeks. The name Gra-Y stands for Grade school Young Men's Christian association and each club stands for fair play, good sportsmanship and all around Christian ideals in the school.

The Glenwood Gra-Y club finished its constitution last Tuesday under the leadership of the leader Bud Cram. Their purpose reads as follows: The purpose of this club is to encourage clean athletics and better sportsmanship in club and school. Their objectives are: Get new members in the club, promote better school spirit, improve the school grounds, introduce new games in the school and discourage bad habits among the students.

The Hi-Y club held its monthly dinner in the Y. M. C. A. dining room Monday night. W. S. Chambers, State Boys' Work secretary, was guest of the club.

W. S. Chambers, State Boys' Work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. met with the local Y. M. C. A. boy group leaders Tuesday evening on the second leaders problem discussion. The topic discussed was "The Building of a Group Program."

A model airplane club is being organized at the Y. M. C. A. The club will be affiliated with the Airplane Model League of America and will be on a city-wide basis. The Y. M. C. A. is the club headquarters. Ralph Moore will be advisor of the group.

The Marion volleyball team went to Mansfield last Saturday to play the "Y" team there. Marion won 2 out of 5 games. Players were Boyd Pittsworth, Ted Biddle, Robert Heininger, Roy Waddell, Walter Sage, Henry Mickleby, Virgil Powell.

The B. M. C. volleyball league will start Wednesday night. A boys' membership basketball tournament will be held Friday.

Bayer Aspirin

Know what you are taking to relieve that pain, cold, headache, sore throat. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is not only effective, it is always safe.

The tablet stamped with the Bayer cross is reliable, always the same—brings prompt relief safely—does not depress the heart.

coughs and SORE THROAT

To increase the stimulative effect reddens the skin over the throat and upper chest with hot wet towels before applying Vicks.

Here's comforting relief for coughs and sore throat:

Every few hours, place a little Vicks on the tongue and let it trickle slowly down the throat as it melts.

When there is much irritation or coughing, stronger vapor action will be helpful. Melt a teaspoonful of Vicks in boiling water and inhale the steaming vapors for several minutes.

At bedtime, rub Vicks vigorously over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Relief is two-fold: by stimulation through the skin, Vicks draws out the soreness, like a plaster; at the same time, its medicated vapors, released by the body-heat, are inhaled direct to the irritated air-passages.

Billion Dollar "Wedding" Awaits Action of Court

Approval or Annulment of Union of Two Great Steel Corporations Expected Before First of Year Following Long Legal Battle.

Editor's Note—The following is the first of a series of five articles relative to the court action in the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem steel merger.

By The Associated Press
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 25.—The billion dollar wedding of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company and the Bethlehem Steel company, one of the outstanding events of the 1930 financial season, will soon be affirmed or annulled.

The union of these two important entities in the steel world gave rise to one of the bitterest court battles on record. It lasted for nearly five months and was preceded by several more months of contest.

Attorneys for Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, who claims a family interest in the Youngstown company, chose to compare the steel merger to the marriage, which they contended was permeated with fraud and illegally executed.

The decision rests somewhere within the bindings of a stack of evidence six feet high. In this record was written the most intimate things about the family affairs of the bride and groom. Judge David G. Jenkins opened the hearing on June 25 and it came to a close on Nov. 7. He is expected to render his verdict sometime before the first of the year.

Looking for Partner
The evidence disclosed that Miss Youngstown, once the proud and independent queen of the Mahoning Valley, had been casting about for a mate since 1928. She had ruled almost with an iron hand the nation's pipe industry. Then she felt that her power was being encroached upon. Marriages in the steel business were numerous after the war and she felt she needed a mate to make a combination of all those steel products that the country's markets demand.

A union with Inland Steel company of Chicago finally was arranged, but this was broken off in 1928, when unexpected differences developed. The engagement to Bethlehem followed a courtship that started in January, 1930. It culminated on April 8 with the acceptance of a merger contract by a majority vote of Youngstown stockholders.

The suit brought by the Eaton interests in Judge Jenkins' court was an injunction action based on charges that the marriage was hastily arranged, that the couple were not suited to each other, and were so zealously inclined to be wed that they failed to follow all the dictates of the law.

The two companies jointly defended themselves. Their attorneys sought to picture Eaton, a comparatively young man in the realm of finance, as an assumed father-in-law of Youngstown, by reason of the stock holdings of himself and his various investment companies.

Fraud Alleged
The Eaton group had charged the companies with the commission of what was defined as constructive fraud, amounting to a violation of the rights of Youngstown stockholders by the making of a bad bargain. As a large stockholder, but a member of the minority, Eaton claimed a legal right to have the merger set aside.

Stripped of all legal phraseology the defense protest was that Eaton hoped to impose his will upon his adopted daughter regardless of her own wishes.

The defense attorneys pointed to the necessary majority vote in favor of the merger and set up the contention that both Youngstown and Bethlehem are quite satisfied to go through life together. They declared that the tenets of law give them this privilege.

Bethlehem made a settlement on Youngstown of 1,600,000 shares of stock in exchange for the 1,200,000 shares she owned. In the latter holdings, Eaton and his interests have upwards of 200,000 shares.

The defense told the court that if Eaton is not satisfied with the deal the law gives him the alternative of demanding cash value of his stock, and if the contract was legal, he can do nothing more about it. Should the judge decide the bargain was fair and consummated in good faith, he must still determine whether the marriage ceremony was performed in accordance with the law.

Jubilee's Partner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday and the day after tomorrow is Thanksgiving. When I had let Jubilee down by his rope and had went down and done my work Banty was there with Peanut and Wilbur and Nib, and he had skinned part of one ear in his glider, and it is worse than it was yesterday, and we were all trying to think of something to do, and he said to look at his ear and to not talk to him about doing things. He said he had done a plenty, and so had his father. He said his ear wasn't the worst place he had. He said his father said he thought Banty was old enough to be left alone, but he had found out he wasn't, so he was never going to leave him alone again, and Banty said then he made good by not leaving him alone with a piece of barrel stave. He said he would run away from home if he knew where to run to, and if it wasn't for his mother. He said he hated to go away and leave such a nice lady living with the kind of a man his father is. I don't blame him. I would like to run away and go down South only I might freeze before I got to where they have climate this time of year.

I asked my grandfather when I was eating breakfast why they have Thanksgiving this time of year, and he said if they didn't have it this kind of weather we'd forget there was anything to be thankful for. There wasn't any place to go when school was out so we went to our barn, and pretty soon we saw my grandfather come into the yard with a big live turkey in his arms, and he came and put it in the empty stall with its feet tied whilst he went in to eat my mother if she wanted it killed right away. Banty cut the rope on its feet so it could stand up so we could see how big it was, and it flew up into the loft, so I went up to catch it before my grandfather got back, and it dodged me and started to fly down just as Peanut was coming up, and he got knocked loose from the ladder by 14 pounds of turkey in his face, and he fell on Nib, and they were fighting it out when my grandfather opened the door and the turkey tried to fly out over his head but he reached up and got hold of a leg, and then his foot slipped and he got down, but he hung onto the turkey, and then he lugged it around by one leg whilst he looked for the hatchet, and he was calling it names all the time and telling it what he was going to do to it. And he done all he said he was going to do. I was glad my mother didn't hear him say what kind of a head he was going to chop off for it, nor what he called it when it flopped against him and got him all bloody. I am glad I don't have to be a grandfather and chop the heads off of things. I would rather eat carrots and spinach; and then I wouldn't have anything to be thankful for. My room was so cold after I opened the window to pull Jubilee up that I wore my britches to bed.

A N active and generally progressive day is forecast from the ruling planetary configurations. Yet there may be difficult situations to handle and also an unfortunate incident to rash impulsive measures which may be the means of precipitating loss, strife and complications. With this tempestuous spirit well under control, there are excellent prospects of new openings and desirable contracts.

Those whose birthday it is, are on the eve of a year of excellent opportunity with good openings and new contracts, all of which should be wisely and calmly grasped. A child born on this day should be clever, ingenious and adventurous, as well as practical and hardworking.

THE mysterious power of premonition was not idle this morning. F. M. Sage of 611 Girard avenue, manager of the F. W. Woolworth Co. store found himself sitting up in bed wide awake and tense about 4:30 a. m. Some strange power told him something was wrong.

He attempted to dismiss the incident as a nervous dream.

Half an hour later he was informed the building housing the store was burning. The fire broke out at approximately the time he was mysteriously awakened.

Windows in a number of uptown buildings missed their usual Tuesday morning wash today. All equipment of the Marion Window Cleaning Co. was destroyed by the fire. Members of the company today were shopping for new equipment.

Among the office suites destroyed in the fire today was that of the Merchants Adjustment Co. Thousands of accounts of the collection agency were on file in the office. Most of them were not recorded in any other place.

Early indications were that all the accounts were destroyed, although there is a possibility that some may be recovered. The company collects bills for Marion merchants.

Fighting fires is not ordinarily a pleasant task. This morning it was even more unpleasant. Firemen found their water-soaked clothing freezing fast to their bodies as freezing temperatures gripped the city.

Minutiae leaked hung from the brows of Fire Chief T. J. McFarland when he completed a successful fight with the flames today.

dreath lap of life. Jones probably enjoys life more than his great-great-grandchild, for he not only leads an active life but can recall reminiscences of many eventful years.

NINETY-NINE years do not lay heavily on this man's shoulders. He still likes to be outdoors in the sunshine. A pleasant day will find him splitting wood or keeping the farm in shape.

Temperate habits and plenty of work comprise this veteran's prescription for long life. He has a natural bent as a carpenter, and constructed and improved his farm buildings while not actively engaged in farming. All existing buildings on his farm, except a small milk house, were built almost entirely by himself.

The Civil war found him in his prime. He enlisted and served three years in the Home Guard at Camp Chase in Columbus and at Cincinnati and Dayton.

HE was a member of the guard at the Ohio statehouse when Lincoln's body laid in state there.

He lives with his two daughters, Misses Carrie and Lillie Jones, at their home a short distance east of Fulton.

He describes in vivid terms the days when he first came to Ohio. The trip was made by canal from Philadelphia. His family came to America from Wales, settling in Onondaga county, New York, where David was born. They came to Ohio when he was but six years old, but he remembers the trip and the stories of the journey that were told by his father and elder brothers and sisters. He was the youngest of a family of 10.

He was married in 1852. Shortly afterward he moved to Iowa, returning two years later. He moved to Morrow county in 1857 where he has since lived.

a position to make the attacking individual or nation regret it. This nation may realize, too late, that sentimental peace talk is a sufficient protection.

THE TARIFF LAW permits Secretary Mellon to forbid importation of goods made by convict labor. Yesterday he issued an order expected to prevent importations from Russia.

If anybody says goods shipped from Russia are made by convict labor, or labor working against its will, goods cannot come in unless the American importer can prove that no convict labor has been employed. This looks like a hint for Stalin, the Russian boss, that we do not want to do business with him.

IF OUR SO-CALLED "depression" is largely "mental," those with important incomes may prepare for a mental shock.

Congressman Snell, chairman of the house rules committee, says there will be no cut in income taxes, and in fact, that there will probably be an increase.

WARDEN LAWES, the head of New York's Sing Sing prison, says the difficulty about gangsters, racketeers and bootleggers is the fact that they are on friendly or at least non-hostile terms with the police.

According to Mr. Lawes, 10,000 New York racketeers are known to the police, who do nothing about it, and this complicates the situation. If the watchdog won't bite the burglar the burglar won't worry.

Posse To Search for Missing School Teacher

After a few days without subsequent action, authorities were convinced today their original theory of kidnapping explained the woman's strange disappearance. They believe the teacher may have been slain and her body concealed in a snow drift.

"About six months," Mr. Lewis said, when asked how long they had been planning their marriage.

Their secret began to be whistled about when Lewis, driver of the East Center and Davis street bus from 2:30 to 12 p. m., laid off last Friday.

A fellow driver noticed it about that Lewis and Mrs. Fullilove were going to be married, and to quiet the gossip they have announced their wedding.

Immediately after their wedding Saturday at 10 a. m., with a Presbyterian minister officiating, they drove back to Marion and Lewis drove his bus that afternoon.

"I trust Don implicitly and I know he would never break his wedding vows," Mrs. Lewis said this morning, while she was preparing a tasty dinner for her husband before he went out to his day's work.

SNOW HITS DIXIE

Freezing Temperatures Reported in Some Sections of Southwest.

By The Associated Press
ATLANTA, Nov. 25.—The south looped up its extra overcoat buttons today.

Piercing winds, near-freezing temperatures and snow flurries brought winter into Dixie for its first extended visit. The mercury dropped to 31 at Memphis, Tenn., and 32 at Little Rock, Ark., a few hours after midnight. Atlanta's reading was several degrees higher and in Richmond, Va., and Charlotte, N. C., the mercury was dropping through the low forties.

Weather observers at Candier field, Atlanta air mail depot, reported a scattering of snow flakes for a 10-minute period late yesterday. A light snow fell at Paragould and Fayetteville in northeast and northwest Arkansas, respectively.

The forecast was for lower temperatures today and a heavy frost to the coast tonight in the Atlantic states. Extreme north Florida also was warned against frost.

McNeal-Wolford Block Partly Destroyed; Business College in Ruins.

A heavy cable of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. containing long-distance wires connecting Columbus with Toledo, Cleveland, Mansfield, Bucyrus, and other northern Ohio cities was partially severed during the fire. Complete service was restored today after partial disruption this morning. The cable passes through the alley to the east of the building.

The cable was struck by a projecting portion of the ladder wagon this morning before the fire was brought under control. The impact loosened one of the cable supports on the north side of the street and dropped the cable across the trolley wire of the C, D. & M. Electric Co.

The cable was nearly burned in half by the trolley wire, which broke under the strain. Interurban service between Marion and Bucyrus was disrupted this morning until the trolley was repaired.

Damage estimated at slightly more than $100 was reported by Beaver & Hudson this morning. The damage was done to magazines by water.

Advances Theories

Several theories of the origin of the fire were advanced this morning by bystanders, although officials could furnish no definite information. One theory was that a small gas stove in the business college rooms might have been burning during the night, and that the fire spread from the stove or the chimney. A short circuit in electric wiring was another theory. Still another was that sparks might have ignited the roof. Since the building is covered with a composition roof the latter theory is improbable.

All three fire companies were rushed to the scene of the fire this morning. Both shifts of firemen were called into service, swelling the force to 22 men.

Seven lines of hoses were laid and as many streams of water were used in bringing the fire under control and protecting adjoining buildings. Two engine pumps and a ladder wagon were put in use, while one pump was held in reserve to protect the block to the east of the building.

The strong wind added control of the streams difficult. Freezing temperatures added to the discomfort of firemen.

No outside assistance was called, although Chief McFarland was prepared to issue a call for aid if the fire spread to other buildings.

Contrary to persistent rumors this morning, the city water pressure was adequate to meet the demands of the fire department, according to Fire Chief T. J. McFarland.

The McNeal-Wolford building is owned by Mrs. Mary A. Wolford, A. F. McNeal and Harvey T. Gracely. It will be restored immediately, Mr. Gracely said this morning.

INCREASE IN STEEL PRICES FORECAST

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The New York Times said today that major steel interests would shortly announce a moderate increase in prices, pointing the way to a revival of business generally.

Barring an unexpected change in conditions, an upward price revision is inevitable and imminent, the paper said, and some corporations have already taken steps to notify their customers of the proposal, applicable to orders booked for the first quarter of 1932.

While no steel executives would comment, the Times said, well-informed sources reported that the only possible obstacle to the move was a resumption of price-cutting by small independents.

The steel industry is regarded as a reliable barometer of business and its advances in the past have usually foreshadowed widespread improvement in other lines.

GEHRING CONVICTED IN SHERMAN DEATH

Gets Life Term for Slaying Columbus, Marion Insurance Man.

John Gehring, 25, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Ohio penitentiary today by Common Pleas Judge Henry L. Scriver, after he was found guilty of first degree murder in connection with the slaying last April 8 of Louis Sherman, former Marion and Columbus insurance agent, an Associated Press dispatch reported today.

Judge Scriver found Gehring guilty and extended mercy after Gehring had pleaded guilty to a general charge of homicide in connection with the slaying. Sherman was shot to death during an attempted robbery of a West Side confectionery.

Gehring was apprehended at Chugwater, Wyoming, where he had been working on a ranch. He fled to Wyoming soon after the shooting.

Tests Show Boys Brainer Than Girls

By International News Service
WACO, Texas.—Boys are just naturally more intelligent than girls, repeated tests conducted at Baylor university here can be taken as an indication.

For the fourth time in six consecutive years, the male sex has registered higher in psychological tests conducted by members of the faculty of the university. The girls were an uncomfortable distance down the line.

The general average of intelligence was somewhat lower than it was last year, Dean W. S. Allen, who supervised the tests, said. The average for this year was 97.64 as compared with 113 last year.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The New York Times said today that major steel interests would shortly announce a moderate increase in prices, pointing the way to a revival of business generally.

Barring an unexpected change in conditions, an upward price revision is inevitable and imminent, the paper said, and some corporations have already taken steps to notify their customers of the proposal, applicable to orders booked for the first quarter of 1932.

While no steel executives would comment, the Times said, well-informed sources reported that the only possible obstacle to the move was a resumption of price-cutting by small independents.

The steel industry is regarded as a reliable barometer of business and its advances in the past have usually foreshadowed widespread improvement in other lines.

The caucus will precede by a few hours the meeting of the Republican state senators who are in the majority by a slight edge.

Three candidates are under consideration for minority floor leader, it was reported. They are Senator Reynolds, David H. De Armond, Hamilton, and William A. Greenwald, Lakewood, former Lieutenant Governor of Ohio.

It is officially announced that the new of 73,000 tonnage. In a race from dock to over a vessel the size of the Leviathan.

The supreme court of Pennsylvania has upheld the conviction with death penalty of Irene Shrader and Glenn Dague, who murdered a state highway policeman near Newcastle about a year ago. Thus the way is cleared for the final act of another "romance," as the sobsisters of the press referred to it.

The Archbishop of Canterbury is planning

Great Britain is spending $2,500,000 for 200 of the fastest fighting planes in the world with which to equip the Royal air force. A few more limitation conferences and the world will be liable to go broke building war machines.

Statistics show that eighteen persons are killed daily in Great Britain in automobile accidents and 500 injured, one-half of the victims being pedestrians. The countries in which we true aristocrats of the land might seek sanctuary are steadily growing fewer and farther between.

The work of drafting the report of the Wickham commission is said to be under way and it is expected to be ready for transmission to President Hoover early next year. That's going to be an awful blow to the writers who have been utilizing it for guessing purposes on dull news days.

Thirty-seven known dead, 200 injured and millions of property damage is the toll of the great storm which late last week swept central Europe and the British Isles. Those who predicted a continuation this year of last year's storm record, basing their predictions on the sun-spot activity, made one mistake. They should have predicted that the intensity of this year's storms would be accentuated.

Air Service To Face Competition.

The all-air transatlantic mail service to be established by the Imperial Airways, Inc., of Great Britain, and the Pan-American Airways corporation, of this country, which is to cover a route by the way of Bermuda and the Azores, is not to have a monopoly. It is to be challenged by both German and American steamship lines, which will utilize seaplanes at distances of from 600 to 1,000 miles from the American and European coasts to land mail almost, if not quite, as speedily as the all-air service.

The North German Lloyd company, which is now operating ship-to-shore mail planes from the Bremen and the Europa, and thus saving half a day's time, is planning to cut a full day from its present schedule between New York and Bremen. Beginning next spring, planes will be catapulted from these vessels when they are far out at sea, and on the eastward runs, these planes will continue on to Bremen, after landing at Cherbourg, and land mail in the former city inside four days.

Plans for the two 50,000-ton liners, which are to be built by the United States Lines, Inc., at a cost of approximately $30,000,000 each and be faster than either the Bremen or the Europa, are now before the navy department for approval. These plans show that the two liners will carry planes which are to be launched at a sufficient distance at sea to make possible a three-day mail service between New York and Great Britain. The interest of the navy in the two forthcoming liners, it may be said, is due to the possibility of their use as auxiliary cruisers.

The present plan is not to start the construction of the two big ships until at least one of the 30,000-ton liners, the level of which will be laid week after next, is almost ready for sea.
However, if the demand for more speed is urgent, work on one of the 50,000-tonners may be started much sooner.

In any event, the all-air service will have to compete from its inauguration with the German ship-air service and in a few years will have to meet the added competition of the still faster ship-air service established by the United States Lines, Inc.

Would It Deliver the Goods?

The pacifist and peace group leaders who backed the Briand-Kellogg pact for the renunciation of war and are urging the entrance of the United States into the World court have launched another campaign for an international law which will make war illegal and brand as criminal any nations which go to war as a means of settling disputes.

The proposal, which goes to President Hoover in the form of a letter, plans the delegating of war "by making its prohibition a basic principle of international law by an enactment —not a treaty—accomplished either by a conference or by a congress of nations with the participation of enough nations to make it binding upon the world."

According to the advance publicity sent to the press, the letter is signed by the "most remarkable list of distinguished men and women" ever attached to a letter addressed to a president. The 150 names attached are those of peace and pacifist group leaders, senators, former cabinet members, a director of the Rockefeller foundation, thirty-five university presidents and fifty-nine college presidents.

"The proposal, if enacted, would put an offending nation in war distinctly outside the protection of international law," the letter sets out. "The enactment would be different from any treaty because a treaty may lose its binding power through the renunciation of it by one or more nations in a way that would make the retention of its bonds unfair and oppressive to other nations that would be loyal to it."

"Some time in the future one or more powerful nations may disrupt and destroy even so splendid a structure as the general pact for the renunciation of war by withdrawing from it," the letter states. "But no nation, be it ever so powerful, can withdraw from international law."

Unquestionably such a law, passed by the nations of the world, would prove such a blessing to mankind as has not come to humanity in nineteen centuries, provided that it would accomplish the end sought—the ending of war.
But would it? Would it prove much more effective, if any, than a treaty to the maintenance of which the nations of the world pledge their honor?

The World war taught us how little respect in time of war is paid to treaties made in time of peace. Sad to say, it also taught us how little respect is paid in time of war to international law. Treaties became scraps of paper and so did international laws, and the offending was not all on one side at that.

Such a law would do no harm, no more than a treaty will work harm, but the chances are that it would do no more good. Having seen the tenets of humanity as well as civilization violated by the acts of nations at war, how can there be reasonable ground for holding that nations would refrain from going to war through fear of being branded as criminal for violation of an international law to which it or they had subscribed?

And lastly, what international law could possibly make war more criminal than all great wars have been either in their waging or the cause or causes leading up to them, if not on both sides, at least on one?

"Big Bill" Thompson threatens to run for a fourth term as mayor of Chicago. That city couragements.

Timepiece and Air Beacon.

The county commissioners have worked a marvelous improvement in the utility of the courthouse clock. As it now is, the time may be gleaned from it either day or night. The cost of lighting it by electricity is about half again what it was when gas was used to make its dial readable in the night season, but there is this difference: whereas it previously wasn't lighted sufficiently to be effective at night as a time-telling mechanism, now not only are the four faces brilliantly illuminated, but the entire clock tower as well.

Thus it is that the clock serves the twenty-four hours around as a timepiece, and in the night season the tower, gleaming in the rays of the four floodlights, serves as a beacon identifying Marion to those who travel by air.
Its silvered surface reflecting the light for miles. With a little care in stoking furnaces in the vicinity, there is no reason why the tower should not retain a measure of its luster for years and prove valuable as an aerial guidepost.

Secretary Mellon, who twice included in his 1928 income report the same item, has been allowed a refund of $72,359. It's simply beyond us to figure what it would be like to have an income of $72,359, to say nothing of having one of such proportions that an item calling for a refund of that size could be inserted twice and yet escape one's knowledge.

It's an odd state in which to expect a good law to bob up, but the fact remains that the bull fight to have been put on at Newark, New Jersey, next Sunday by Sidney Franklin has been barred under a state law forbidding the baiting of animals.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, wants a two-year suspension of immigration to aid the country's jobless. As a safeguard such a course could do no harm, but the present-day conditions in the United States are not wholly such as tend to encourage immigration. The depression existing at present is something of an immigration wall.

Representative George H. Tinkham, of Massachusetts, has laid before the department of justice charges of violation of the corrupt practices act by the dry ecclesiastical group taking active partisan part in the 1928 presidential campaign. Well, on the face of the thing, that's a heap sight better than setting apart Bishop Cannon as the one and only goat.

Rev. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, accuses Mrs.
Mabel Walker Willebrandt, who as an assistant United States attorney general was a firebrand in prohibition enforcement, of having chloroformed him and other champions of Volsteadism. Surely Mabel wouldn't do a thing like that, and the good doctor shouldn't so accuse her, even though she is serving the California grape growers whose products aren't limited to raisins, jelly and jam-making purposes.

JOIN THE MOVEMENT AND KNOCK OUT THE UN—

Editorial Opinion.

THE ARROGANCE OF DR. MBRIDE.

Dr. F. Scott McBride, the "I Duce" of the Anti-Saloon league, lately rose to assert that if the Hoover enforcement commission dares to recommend a modification of the Volstead act, or any other change in the prohibition laws, it will "exceed its functions."

Although Dr. McBride apparently holds a contrary impression, it is a fact nevertheless that neither the President nor the congress of the United States has yet abdicated in his favor.
He has not yet arrived at the dignity of being dictator over the land and sole custodian of its morals and ethics. For him to undertake to say how a federal commission may or may not report, is a great piece of arrogant impudence; and the performance is quite inexcusable, even though the doctor may feel that there is pressing need for his organization to provide an alibi that will seem to excuse it from accepting findings which he thinks are not going to be to its liking.

The supplementary statement by the doctor that regardless of what the Hoover commission may recommend, his organization will stand uncompromisingly against any modification of the dry regulations is another matter.
The Anti-Saloon league will have the right to take any position regarding the commission report it may choose to make. But the announcement in advance that the organization will listen to neither presentation of fact nor to argument, if either are repugnant to its preconceived notions, surely will not strengthen any impression now existing that the league is a reliable, unprejudiced, intellectually honest and safe guide.—Detroit Free Press.

TRAIN DISPATCHING BY RADIO.

Radio triumphed over the storm in North Dakota Friday. Until this year, 1930, the snapping of telegraph and telephone wires has customarily meant the halting of trains. Railway traffic moves under the guidance of train dispatchers. Dispatchers must have means for getting orders to engineers.

When the storm crippled the wires between Fargo and Jamestown, resourceful dispatchers hopped over the break by enlisting the services of two radio stations, one in each city.

That seems a little unusual now. But the time may not be so far off when train orders will be sent by radio directly into engine cabs.
Indeed, the time may soon come when a mechanical pencil, writing on a sheet of paper in front of his eyes, will keep each locomotive engineer continually informed as to his orders.
Those of us who hesitate to believe in such miracles should recall that plenty of men now alive pood-pooded the first telephone, the first phonograph, the first motion-picture device, the first wireless and the first airplane.—Minneapolis Journal, November 22.

It's an Outrage!

"Do girl students smoke?" asks the Brooklyn Eagle. With that bold impudence does this our stated and dignified contemporary make questioning insinuation against our young and modest maidenhood!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Paint Creek and Chillicothe in 1797.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The diary of Rev. James Smith, of Powhatan, Virginia, which has been referred to in this column recently, enables us to get a glimpse of Paint Creek and Chillicothe as they appeared in 1797 when he was making his second tour into Ohio on horseback and crossed over from the Miami to the Scioto valley, using the valley of Paint Creek as his route for part of the way.

It was about 1 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, October 15, that he reached a house on the banks of Paint Creek—the first house he had encountered in forty miles, and there he stopped for refreshment. "Paint Creek," he wrote, "is a clear, pure stream and at this point is about 100 yards wide. It seems to be a fine stream for fish, as we stood upon the bank and saw a fine school of them near the opposite shore, which from the distance from which we saw them, must have been very large."

Along the river, he says, he had a very good view of a pelican; the peculiar pouch under its lower bill he describes as a great curiosity.
The bird was killed and the pouch found to contain about a peck, which seems hard to believe, but our traveler was a preacher. Wonder how long it has been since pelicans frequented the waters of Paint Creek?

Letters carved in the bark of a beech tree standing on the bank of Paint Creek attracted his attention and close examination showed that they were "T. L. and T. D. 1790," from which he deduced that he was not the first white man to pass that way, but that some English or some French had crossed the divide between the two valleys forty-seven years before.

He rode for more than twenty miles along this creek whose valley he declared exceeded in fertility any lands he had ever before laid his eyes upon. He closed his entry of his travel for that day with this note: "We arrived a little in the night at Chillicothe Town, and took up at Umston Tavern."

War Against Tuberculosis.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Science is adding daily to our knowledge of the body and its true functions. Discoveries are being made at such a rate that it is difficult to keep up with them. One of the most cheering examples of the advance in medical science is the successful war being waged on tuberculosis in all its forms.

Not so many years ago tuberculosis was looked upon as incurable. Now we know that it is really curable. We have learned that right living is the telling factor in its cure. In consequence, the death rate for this disease is steadily decreasing in most localities in our country. Unfortunately, in the congested sections of our great cities it still presents a serious problem.

The subject of nutrition is being vigorously investigated in relation to disease. In no human ailment is proper nutrition a more important factor than in the control of tuberculosis.

This disease may attack any of the organs, or any part of the body. The intestines form a convenient place for the tubercular germ to find a lodging place. It is rare for the disease to spend its force in the intestines. Yet if the membrane lining of this passageway becomes involved, say from infected milk, or some other agent, then there will be numerous local symptoms.

The most common symptom of this form of tuberculosis is diarrhea. For this reason, treatment is difficult, because feeding the patient in tuberculosis of any kind is a matter of paramount importance. The resistance to disease must be built up as quickly as possible.
If the digestive tract is out of order, forced feeding is most difficult.

When a person is emaciated, lacks strength, has great prostration and fever, he must be put to bed and remain there until his doctor permits him to get up. Absolute rest and quiet are essential in the beginning.

There is no medicine in the world like fresh air and sunshine. In tuberculosis the patient must have fresh air day and night. It is a vital thing in tubercular infection, and nothing must stand in the way of getting it. We are not doing our duty by the sufferer unless we keep this constantly in mind.

Except in certain rare forms, sunlight is one of the most powerful in this disease. Either natural or artificial sunlight may be used.
If the latter, it should always be used under the guidance of a physician.

To sum up the treatment in tuberculosis of the intestines, or other forms of the disease, the essential factors in the cure are hygienic surroundings, fresh air and sunshine. To these we add plenty of rest and sleep, a diet in which milk and eggs are the foundation, and freedom from worry and mental disturbance. With all these, there is every chance of recovery.—Copyright, 1930, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

W. A. W. Q.—What causes salivation?

A.—Hyperacidity of the stomach is often the inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care

Editor Star—After attending the marathon dance at Crystal Lake park a good many times and then seeing false statements published in the Marion county hard loers ad, I for one do not agree with such offensive contents they contain. At any rate the Marion county officials and Crystal Lake park officials are helping to promote the welfare of the city, and if their broadcasting was undesirable WAU would not broadcast it.

I am not afraid to say that if the mentioned spect, and they will find the only doors in the entrance to the dance pavilion that are not double-locked are the outside doors, and they Prayer—"Lord this bosom's ardent feel-

Delhi, Jewel of India.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Delhi is the capital of India, a progressive city with many attractions for the visitor male and female. The lure for the latter lies in the up-to-date shops. The follower of history, particularly if he has a memory for the gruesome, will recall that Nadir Shah, the Persian, slaughtered 100,000 persons here, and that the Maharattas are said to have exceeded even this in their warfare. Anyway, it was almost the entire population.

It is in Delhi that the great durbars are held.
Here Queen Victoria was proclaimed empress amid much magnificence. Later Lord Curzon held a durbar and marvelous procession in 1903 upon the occasion of the accession to the throne of King Edward VII.

Chandni Chank is the main street of Delhi.
Chandni Chank means "Silver Square." It is a street of bazaars and magnificent public buildings the whole being in considerable contrast to the squalor of the large part of the city. Shah Jahan's fort stands at the end of this street.

The same Shah Jahan built himself a remarkable palace a monument to his vanity and lavishness. "Shah Jahan's" throne is known wherever people read.

A word about this remarkable throne, the "Peacock" throne, as it is called. It gets its name because two peacocks spread tails form the back. Precious jewels galore are inlaid to represent the colors of life. There is a legend that the famous Koh-i-noor diamond was an eye of one of the peacocks, but that has not been substantiated. The canopy of gold above the throne, six feet by four, standing on six feet of solid gold inlaid with jewels, supported by twelve pillars likewise studded with precious stones, pearls forming a fringe for the edge of the canopy. While the throne is gone, the platform is still there. The Persian conqueror, Nadir Shah, marched off with all these treasures, along with other loot the total of which is said to have been $250,000,000. But this same Nadir Shah was later murdered by the Kurds and his collection of loot was scattered all over Asia, which was a pity.

The British government tried to restore the throne room when the then Prince of Wales, later Edward VII, visited Delhi in 1876, but of course imitation stones had to be used.

Even now this palace of the Shah Jahan is well worth a visit.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Friday, November 25, The poultry show was being splendidly patronized.

The Little Scioto improvement bond issue of $84,000 was sold to Stacy & Bruan, of Toledo, at a premium of $3,642.50.

Henry Troup, forty-five, died very suddenly at his home on South Seffer avenue the day before, so the Star reported, of hemorrhage of the brain.

The new play to be produced by Tim Murphy, "Puppets and Strings," was written by Frank E. Dumm, a one-time telegraph editor of the Star.

Marion friends learned of the marriage of Miss Edythe Anderson, a former local school teacher, and Mr. Benjamin Van Curan, the preceding Saturday, in Los Angeles.

The salaries of the various county officers were increased about $300 each on the increased population of the county.

The basketball season opened, Marion defeating Crestline, thirty to nine.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Higley Livey, of Blaine avenue.

The Star reported the birth of a son, the day before, to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ruhl.

Dinner Stories.

A little boy was running madly along the street. A kindly old lady stopped him and said: "My dear little boy, where are you going so fast?" The little boy answered: "I'm running for a doctor; my grandpa's sick."

"Now," replied the old lady, "you run right back to grandpa and tell him he only thinks he's sick."

A couple of days later, the kindly old lady saw the little boy in the street again.

"My dear little boy," she said, "is your grandpa all right now?"

"Yes," replied the little boy, "he's all right now. He thinks he's dead, and we are going to bury him next Sunday."

"Darling, father has gone bankrupt."

"I always said he would find ways and means of separating us."

"There is no use trying to please people," said Mr. Dustin Stax.

"What is the trouble?"

"If you don't contribute to campaign funds they say you're parsimonious, and if you do they say you're corrupt."

ART, MUSICCeramic Collection Shown at Le Mercure Club Meet

PART of a $5,000 collection of ceramics from the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, together with lantern slide illustrations of the art of pottery making thousands of years B. C., was enjoyed by Le Mercure club members last evening at the home of Mrs. Walter E. Hane on East Center street.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the club was conducted through the plant of the Marion Glass Mfg. Co., and each member was presented a gift of glass. A buffet supper was served at 6:30 at the Hane home, with Mrs. Hane and Miss Margery Eymon as hostesses. A Thanksgiving note was carried out in the table centerpiece. Miss Marion Conley, social chairman of the club, was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Mrs. Hane read an interesting paper on three of the most prominent pottery makers in the state, Rookwood at Cincinnati, Roseville at Zanesville and Cowan at Cleveland. Before going into the types of pottery which each produced, she went into the history of ceramics, touching the highlights of its progress from early civilization. Lantern slides illustrated this part of her paper.

Ohio Girl is Brightest

FROM three to twelve. That's the period when it is most important to your child's development. And that's the time many are retarded mentally and physically by constipation.

Watch your child, mother! At the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, headache, biliousness, lack of energy or appetite, give a little California Fig Syrup.

This pure vegetable product cleanses, regulates a child's bowels without discomfort. No danger of forming the laxative habit when California Fig Syrup is used. For it tones and strengthens weak bowels. In colds or children's diseases, employ its gentle aid to keep the system from becoming clogged with germs or waste.

Tell of the benefits secured for their children. Mrs. C. J. Polner, 1314 East 88th St., Cleveland, says: "I have used California Fig Syrup with Rita Agnes for two years in cases of upsets, bad breath, coated tongue or constipation. It keeps her the brightest, happiest six-year-old I know."

Look for the name California when buying. That is on every carton of the genuine, for your protection.

Lecture-Recital Club Brings Artists for Schubert Program

ONE of the most delightful musicals sponsored by the Marion Lecture-Recital club was given last night when a group of guest artists was heard in a Schubert program presented in the ballroom at Hotel Harding.

Compositions by the famous composer predominated in the numbers chosen and the program was varied with the presentation of piano, contralto and instrumental solos and a group of numbers by a string trio.

Announcement of the Christmas program to be given Dec. 8 was made by Mrs. Karl W. Setel president of the club. The program will be given at the First Presbyterian church and is open to the public. Mrs. R. G. Williamson served as program and for the recital last night.

Mrs. R. J. Wetherald of Findlay was an out-of-town guest artist, and delighted the club members and patrons with her charming contralto voice and pleasing manner. She chose for her opening solo Schubert's composition, "The Wanderer," and included in her closing group, "The Eagle," by Buch, "The Little Sandman," and "Lyonese," by Forsyth.

In charming contrast to Mrs. Wetherald's numbers was the group of soprano numbers by Mrs. George G. Kleinmaier which included "Der Neugierke," "Who Is Sylvia?" and "Whom?" all by Schubert. Mrs. Kleinmaier, who possesses a colorful and musical voice, was heard for the first time in the club programs since her return to Marion. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, who also played the accompaniments to Mrs. Wetherald's

WILD BEAUTY

by MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

(Copyright, 1930, by Mateel Howe Farnham)

CHAPTER 14
A Princess Arrives
Fanny learned the beauty of the world for four or five years while she bore him three children. When the youngest was a few months old something happened—the family never quite found out what, though it was variously rumored that she had gone off with a traveling circus, had been seen climbing the Matterhorn with a young university student, had eloped with a dashing Italian officer.

But whatever it was it caused a great commotion and sent Cousin Josiah scurrying from the Baltic sea to Turkey, in misanthropic Cousin Josiah fixed it up—bought Alessandro off, probably—for Juliette went back to him, but not to the ancestral acres and she had no more children.

During the war she had established and run a hospital close behind the Italian lines, but with the end of the war suddenly decided to come to America and live in Washington.

She had known Lella abroad and suddenly came to visit her, telegraphing one day, arriving the next and leaving the day following. Lella barely had time to gather the family for a dinner in Juliette's honor. But as much to Fanny's surprise as anyone's else's she invited Fanny to go back to Washington with her.

Fanny's first sight of the new cousin was acutely disappointing. She had not expected her to be beautiful, but had pictured her as a sort of tiger woman, alive with a strange power that drew men as a magnet draws bits of steel.

Fanny was waiting in Lella's drawing room with the rest of the cousins and aunts and uncles of varying degree, when she heard a rustle and turned to find a plain dark woman of uncertain age standing in the doorway. She was dressed simply in well-cut black satin and carried a black lace shawl, her only ornaments long onyx and diamond earrings. She was tall and well built, but her skin was coarse, she wore no rouge and her strongly masculine features were accentuated by a short mannish hair cut.

Immediately dinner was over she came across the room and drew Fanny aside into a bay window. Fanny was waiting to talk to you all evening," she said and smiled. Her voice was low and rarely musical. "Bob Daniels told me about you. It was all he did talk about the week he visited me in July."

Fanny flushed. "Oh, how is Bob Lella is crazy to have him home. I suppose it won't be long now."

"If I were Lella I should leave Bob in Europe. He is happier there—or in the army. If Lella would exert herself she might easily have him kept over there as an attaché. That would solve a great many problems, don't you think?"

"I—why, I don't know," Juliette smiled. "If he comes back it will be on your account—not for his children."

BEST MEDICINE SHE KNOWS OF

Ft. Meyers, Fla.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine I have heard of. Before my baby was born I was always weak and rundown. I had nervous spells until I couldn't do my housework. A lady told me about the Vegetable Compound and I strengthened me. Beside my own housework I am now working in a restaurant and I feel better than I have in three years. I hope my letter will be the means of leading some other woman to better health."

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

By ADELE GARRISON

Junior's Jealousy Comes to the Surface.

FLUSHED at Lillian's rally on my fussiness over the Christmas tree trimmings, but laughed easily as well. For I knew that long ago both Lillian and Dicky had commended whole heartedly my scheme of Christmas tree decoration, and that it suited their artistic instincts. My father, my small son, Katherine and even my captious mother-in-law also approved. I was not so sure about Katie. I believed that secretly she would have preferred a gaudier tree, and one which held all the colors of the rainbow, and their modifications, to this in which the strands of the electric lights were holly red, the green of the tree itself, the clear white of the ordinary globe and a deep, dark lovely blue, and in which almost every ball and ornament was of the same deep shade of holly red. Only what Lillian called the "junker" of striped fruit, tiny reindeer and miniature Santas without which no tree for children would be complete, departed from the color scheme, and these always I selected with care so that nothing would jar the color of harmony.

"I know you'll guard the bridge for me instead of with me," I said, and turned to where Marion stood with Junior and Roderick. Junior was holding fast to her hand, and when I came up he was voluble in his enthusiasm.

"Oh! Mum, Marion is going to help me and Rod hang up our stockings."

"Rod and me," I said mechanically, but Junior was too excited to notice the correction I really had not meant to make.

"She says she can wait till Grandpa finishes the story," he said, with a shy look at his mother, upon every ounce of flesh promised him. "And Mum, can't we have some golf stockings of Uncle Harry's? Aunt Lillian says they're the biggest of anybody's."

were an uncomfortable distance. "Yes, if you like," I answered, and Marion caught him and Roderick by either hand.

"Come on, ask him," she said, and went over with them to where big Harry Underwood was standing. "Better wait a pair again," he boomed, when Marion had put the request, but as I shook my head violently at him, he begged quickly. "Come to think of it, I've only one pair without holes," he amended with a malicious grin at Lillian. "But you're welcome to them. Do you know where to find them, Marion?"

The story came to an end at last and Junior repeated as he always does when he hears it: "Dix Tim's blessing 'God bless us every one'! Then he jumped up and threw his arms around me."

"Come on, Rod, let's go up to bed now. Mum, can Marion come up and help you tuck us in after we get undressed?" She doesn't have to go back yet, with this sap, do you, Marion?"
